Winter Adventure

Trek to Kuari Pass, Uttarakhand

Our long-awaited trekking trip began with an air of excitement as we embarked on a journey filled with adventure and anticipation. The journey itself was an experience to cherish, as we traveled together, eagerly awaiting the challenges and breathtaking views ahead.

Upon reaching Joshimath, we settled in a scenic village where we could explore the local surroundings and immerse ourselves in its beauty. We were also given the freedom to venture out and buy essentials at our own expense, making the experience even more personal and enjoyable. The real adventure began as we set off towards the trekking site. The moment we arrived at the base of the towering mountains, an adrenaline rush took over. Our instructors informed us that the initial stretch of the trek would be around 5 kilometers, and with every step, we found ourselves captivated by the mesmerizing landscapes around us. As we ascended further, excitement levels soared. However, nature had its own plans, and an unexpected snowfall altered the course of our journey. This unforeseen challenge led our teachers to make a crucial decision. Considering safety, the group was split into two: a selected group of students, accompanied by half the teachers, proceeded cautiously uphill to Khulara Top, a point slightly lower than our original destination, Kuari Pass. Meanwhile, the rest of the group, under the supervision of the remaining teachers, moved slightly downhill to set up camp in a safer location. Despite the change in plans, the journey remained thrilling and rewarding. The experience of trekking through unpredictable terrains, facing nature's surprises, and witnessing the pristine beauty of the mountains made this excursion truly unforgettable. It was a journey of perseverance, teamwork, and adventure—one that will remain etched in our hearts forever.

What Is A Dad?

A dad is a person
Who is loving and kind
And often he knows
What you have on your mind.
He's someone who listens,
Suggests and defends.
A dad can be one
Of your very best friends.
He is proud of your triumphs,
But when things go wrong,
A dad can be patient,

Helpful and strong.
In all that you do,
A dad's love plays a part.
there's always a place for him
Deep in my heart.
And each year that passes,
I'm even more glad,
More grateful and proud
To call him
MY DAD!

True Friendship

Some may be fake,
Some true,
But one who is a true one,
I will never leave your hand.
Many will come and go away,
But a true friend, will never Leave you alone;
A true friend will never
Break your trust or hope,
Your real friend will always help you
And never let you down.

Summer, summer, the sky is bright!
Beautiful rays enlighten our minds.
New Season, New goals, new achievements,
Nature's beauty; full of refreshments.
Moderate rain, high temperature
Summer, Summer, Full of adventure.
Sunbath on the gay beach
Happy summer to all!
Let's not be busy in siesta.
It's time for summer fiesta.
Summer is not meant for holidays,
rather, not the time for a long day's work.
It is the beginning of new rays
That one should praise.

As long as one remembers.

And feel long, remember that together,
We are strong.
With care and hope, we lead the way,
Guiding our hearts every day.

And love and touch the sky.
Empathy in all we do, -together we see it

In every lesson,

every smile, we are making a difference.
With patience and a steady hand, we help

We lift each other high and with hope and

We touch the sky.
Empathy in all we do,
Together we see it true.

Echoes of Shadows

In the silence, whispers creep,
A heart once vibrant, is now buried deep.
Fragments scattered, dreams like dust,
In the ashes of hope, only shadows rust.
Eyes that once sparkled, are now clouded with night,
Chasing the echoes of fading light.
A labyrinth of thoughts, tangled and worn, Each turn is a reminder of battles forlorn.
The mirror reflects an unknown face,
A hollow shell of a heart is overthrown.
Voices of doubt, like ghosts in the mind,
Wrap around softly, cruelly unkind.
Yet in this darkness, a flicker remains,
A spark in the depths, through all the pain.
For even the broken can learn to ignite,
To rise from the shadows, to reclaim their light.
Though lost in the chaos, the soul yearns
to mend,
To find strength in the cracks, to love and defend.
In the journey through shadows, may courage be found,
For even in darkness, a heart can rebound.

Take A Nap

A child who studied through the night,
To get his homework perfect and right!
He gave his best, with heart and zest,
But paid the price by losing the rest.
"Take a nap," his mother said,
But he refused and shook his head.
His focus sharp, his will so strong,
He pressed ahead, though it felt wrong.
Then, as he studied, something strange-
A magical cloud within his range!
It floated down, with bright colours,
And whispered, "Make a wish tonight."
"Wish for the top of the coming test,
And all your efforts will be blessed."
The little boy, with hopeful eyes,
Made his wish beneath the skies.
But the spirit softly urged, "Take a rest,
For even the hardest work needs a pause
to be its best."
The boy lay down, his eyelids closed—
And in that dream, the answer posed.
The wish, it seemed, was just a dream,
But what he did was far more than it might seem.
With effort true, and work well done,
His assignment was perfect—victory won!

Hope's Light

In Darkness, a spark remains,
Guiding us through life's pain.
Hope's a gentle flame, a beacon bright,
It illuminates the darkest night.
With every breath, grows a new belief,
A radiant light, for you and me
Through trials and tribulations, it stands
A steadfast friend in shifting sands.
In the depths of sorrow, it whispers low,
"You are strong, you'll rise again, don't let go."
A reassuring voice, in the darkest hour,
Hope's promise keeps our hearts
empowered!

Health Check: A Step Towards Wellness

Good health begins with simple yet essential habits—maintaining hygiene and eating a balanced diet. Together, these practices protect our bodies from disease and promote overall well-being.

Why Hygiene Matters

Hygiene protects against infections and illnesses. Regular handwashing, brushing your teeth twice a day; and keeping your surroundings clean helps prevent the spread of germs. Additionally, personal hygiene improves confidence and mental well-being.

Some quick hygiene tips:

- * Wash hands before meals and after using the restroom.
- * Keep nails trimmed and clean.
- * Regularly wash and sanitize surfaces (especially cooking surfaces) in your home.

Nutrition: Fuel for Your Body

Nutrition is about giving your body the right fuel to function. A balanced diet includes fruits, vegetables, whole grains, proteins, and healthy fats. Proper nutrition boosts energy, strengthens the immune system, and supports mental clarity.

Easy steps to improve nutrition:

- * Eat a variety of colorful foods for diverse nutrients.
- * Stay hydrated by drinking plenty of water daily.
- * Avoid processed and sugary foods in excess.
- * Hygiene Meets Nutrition

The connection between hygiene and nutrition is vital. Washing fruits and vegetables, cooking food thoroughly, and storing it properly ensure safe consumption and better nutrient retention.

Following these practices builds a solid foundation for a healthier life. Small changes today can lead to big rewards tomorrow—start now for a stronger, more vibrant you!

Die Wahl der Zukunft
Die Welt ist so schön, solange wir leben.
Die Natur ist sehr angenehm,
solange wir sie bewahren.
Die Flüsse geben uns viel Energie,
solange wir sie schätzen.
Das Aroma der Blumen hält uns frisch,
solange wir sie nicht pflücken.
Die Vögel heben unsere Stimmung,
solange wir sie vor Strahlung schützen.
Die Berge zeigen uns ihre Stärke,
solange wir sie nicht zerstören.
Nun, es liegt an uns,
ob wir unser Leben schön machen wollen.
Aber die Realität ändert sich.
Alle wollen die Welt umgestalten,
ohne sie zu verstehen.
Wie schade.

The Choice of the Future

The world is so beautiful, as long as we live.
Nature is very pleasant,
as long as we preserve it.
The rivers give us so much energy,
as long as we value them.
The aroma of flowers keeps us fresh,
as long as we don't pick them.
The birds lift our spirits,
as long as we protect them
from radiation.
The mountains show us their strength,
as long as we don't destroy them.
Now, it's up to us,
whether we want to make
our lives beautiful.
But reality is changing.
Everyone wants to reshape
the world,
without understanding it.
What a pity

(translation).

Random Acts of Kindness

No one knows,
how deep the thoughts run,
an act of kindness goes,
No one knows.
How bright a smile on a face
an act of kindness leaves,
No one knows.
How much courage
an act of kindness gives.
No one knows,
How much gratitude it offers.

No one knows,
How much help it does.
SO wherever I go,
I will make a person's day
with random acts of kindness.
I'll practise it every day,
and bring smiles
on faces that never smiled.
And all I did, was just,
A random act of Kindness.

Positivity

Open your eyes,
look at the clouds,
The way they filter the sunlight
floating with the air.
Open your ears,
hear the sea,
its gentle, rhythmic waves,
splashing your feet with water.
Feel more,
the softness of the grass,
on which you are lying
enjoying the sunbeams.
Fill your lungs,
with the immense smell
of the flowers,
that brings positivity
for as long as the day lasts.

-Pragya Dwipt, VII-A

Positivity has the power to transform challenges into opportunities, while kindness creates ripples that touch hearts and inspires changes. Together, they form the foundation of a world where hope thrives and compassion leads the way.

Be Kind

Be kind,
when a person requisites a succour,
rather than being a vicious butcher.
Be kind,
if you're the only human,
to save a vulnerably assaulted women

Be kind,
to the low-wage workers,
for they backstage the society makers.
Be kind,
to the creature with no voice,
who has no sharp mind, introspection or choice.
Be kind,
for the world needs it more,
than the duplicitous mind
Be Kind,
to the strafed, demolished earth
over and above yourself, perceiving your worth.

The Man I Adore

Young I was, I met a man.
He opted to be my journeyman.
He was, he has been,
From then till now-
Let me share how the story began.
He taught me how to face fears.
He's mightier to expunge the tears.
I never saw him doomed over the years.
Always the one yielding the cheers.
Charming, tall, and fit, qualities
As such one would love to inherit.
Wretched, I feel, to find dotage hit,
Maybe that's the verity one can't ever quit.
The face that gleamed with smiles before.
Got augmented with wrinkles more.
Feet that ran through every door
Can barely let him walk on the floor.
Difficult to see the man grow old.
Tough to discern The Man I Adore!

The Space You Left Behind

Four years now—
since your footsteps grew distant,
since your laughter stopped filling these walls,
since the morning light fell on an empty bed

where you once curled up, safe in my arms.
I never left you before.

Not once.

Not for a night, not for a moment
when you reached out, needing me near.
You were my shadow, my echo,
my little world wrapped in warm hands.
Then one day, the world called you elsewhere.

Bangalore. A city bigger than my fears,
louder than my silence,
farther than my heart could stretch.

I packed your bags, my hands steady,
but my soul stumbled,
folding memories into cotton and zippers,
tucking in whispered prayers between your books.

Now, I measure time in phone calls,
in texts that say I'm good, Ma, in pictures where I search your eyes, tracing the woman you are becoming—

so proud, so strong,
so much more than the girl,
who once held my hand too tight.
I miss you.

In ways that words can't hold,
in spaces that only mothers know,
in the quiet ache of a home
that still belongs to you.

But I stand here, unbreaking, because that's what mothers do—
we love, we wait,
we let go,
and we keep the light on,
always.

GOLDEN WHISPERS

You stand in the middle,
Like an answer to a riddle.
With your golden skin,
In the wind, we skim.
A light in the darkness,
That takes away my sadness.
In your lovely hair,
And your skin so fair.
One glance at you, my dear,
And they all fear.
For I have found myself,
In your little golden shelf.
In the wind, wave your hand,
From the end, I will come.
Do not forget to wink,
And carry me in your wind.
Next day, I'll see you again,
Tonight, I see you in my dream.
Even if you're filled with pain,
Do not forget to gleam.

NEFELIBATA: Be unapologetically 'YOU'

In a world where conformity and likeness are often invigorated, embracing our unique individuality and veracity can be a daunting task. However, it is precisely this authenticity that allows us to truly thrive and make a lasting impact. The phrase "Be unapologetically YOU" is more than just a mantra - it's a call to arms, urging us to shed the shackles of societal expectations and proudly celebrate our distinctiveness. This phenomenon is what we call NEFELIBATA; which literally refers to walking on clouds and metaphorically, an unconventional dreamer who barely cares a hang about peoples' perspectives of them. It also refers to as someone who thinks and lives outside of pre-conceived boxes, pursuing their own unique path and not conforming to expectations. Being unapologetically ourselves stands in need of courage, resilience, and a deep understanding of our virtues, passions, and strengths. It means embracing our quirks, flaws, and idiosyncrasies, rather than trying to hide or change them to fit someone else's matrix. When we choose to be authentic, we manifest a world of possibilities, where our unique perspectives and talents can flare.

In a society that often prizes uniformity, being different can be intimidating. We may trepitate judgment, rejection, or ridicule from others. However, it is precisely this fear that holds us back from discerning our full potential. When we dare to be ourselves, we inspire others to do the same; we may even create imitators which can be annoying, but what would keep you contented is the fact that you've managed to create a ripple effect of ingenuity and self-acceptance even if people who you genuinely inspire don't accept it. Being unapologetic also means embracing our vulnerabilities and imperfections. It means acknowledging that we are not perfect and that it's okay to make mistakes. These mistakes can be the biggest of sins one could ever commit, and it's okay to commit those as long as you have conscience and space for remorse and perfecting yourselves by learning your lessons from these mistakes and never repeating the same. This vulnerability also allows us to form unfathomable connections with others, built on trust, empathy, and mutual understanding. So, LEARN, UNLEARN AND RELEARN. Being true to ourselves is essential for our mental and emotional well-being as well. When we try to conform to societal expectations or pretend to be someone we're not, we may feel spurious, anxious and stressed. On the other hand, embracing our antique personality can bring a sense of liberation, confidence, and self-worth. It is a powerful act of self-love and self-acceptance. It requires courage, resilience, and a willingness to embrace our unique strengths, weaknesses, and quirks. In being so, be prepared for envy and jealousy. Don't be surprised if people try to pull you down; they will mock you, play you, they may even test your patience and try to get closer to you to know about how unbelievably undiminished your spirit is. Your aura will be challenging for them and no matter how obsessed they are about you, they will try to break you per their capabilities. They'll love you behind closed doors, keep a check on you, watch your actions closely yet talk ill about you and call you 'extra' to others. Don't be bothered and stand undeterred amidst criticism, not with arrogance but with a humble spirit of improvisation to attain perfection without truly hindering your real personality. Proudly celebrate your distinctiveness and let every step of yours light up the world of others. Be unapologetically true, be unapologetically 'YOU'!

The Bard's Enduring Legacy

William Shakespeare, the renowned English playwright and poet, has left an indelible mark on the English language. According to the Oxford English Dictionary, Shakespeare introduced over 1700 words into the English language, making him the largest contributor to the English vocabulary. Some examples of words coined by Shakespeare include “assassination” (Macbeth), “bedazzled” (The Taming of the Shrew), “fashionable” (Troilus and Cressida), “sanctimonious” (Measure for Measure), and “vulnerable” (The Winter’s Tale).

Shakespeare’s influence extends beyond vocabulary. His works are also the most quoted in the English language. Who can forget iconic lines like “To be or not to be” (Hamlet), “Romeo, Romeo, wherefore art thou Romeo?” (Romeo and Juliet), or “All the world’s a stage” (As You Like It)?

In Hamlet, Polonius advises, “Brevity is the soul of wit.” Ironically, he delivers this advice during a lengthy and rambling lecture to Laertes, emphasising the importance of being concise and clear in one’s speech. This irony is a testament to Shakespeare’s mastery of language.

In Julius Caesar, Shakespeare uses a double superlative for rhetorical effect and emotional impact. When Mark Antony says, “This was the most unkindest cut of all,” he is using two superlatives (“most” and “unkindest”) to emphasise the severity of Brutus’ betrayal. This clever wordplay highlights Shakespeare’s innovative use of language.

Shakespeare also reminds us that our thoughts shape our reality. In Hamlet, he writes, “There is nothing either good or bad, but thinking makes it so.” This profound insight highlights the power of our thoughts and perceptions.

Shakespeare’s enduring legacy is a testament to his genius and creativity. His works continue to inspire literature, theatre and everyday language, reminding us of the power of words to shape our understanding of the world.

A Promise to Oneself

Shedding tears won't lessen the pain;
Its mark will remain in your heart as a stain.
But it will provide a deep sleep to escape,
Because it's better not to complain but to evade.
When your tears start burning your eyes,
Your mind awakens and makes you realize
That your place in someone's life has started to decline.
You wanted to share your grief,
But somehow managed to utter your trauma in brief.
Your mother mistook your swollen eyes
For sleep deprivation,
Because she cannot imagine
Her child yearning for care and connection.
Hiding and holding my tears by closing my eyes,

And all I could recognize — your face visualized.
Instantly, I opened my eyes,
But all the pain I was holding Streamed down, which I got as a prize.
Everyone senses the misery behind my silence,
But not the one who promised
To always be there as my guidance.
Alas, to share your suffering,
You need to repeat those realizations
That disturbed your heartbeat.
So I stayed quiet, set myself free,
For I won't beg or bend my knee.
I'll rise again, with hope in sight,
And chase the dawn, embracing light.

Mistakes are All It Takes!

They break you, then they make you
You survive with this issue
These are mistakes for life that pay you off
That uphill grind won't ever do!
Oft when you fail to realise
The real lies that sue,
These are milestones that beseech out of the blue.
"Why me?", you question, the answer lies still
When there's no clue
These are mistakes for life that hold you
To battle hiccups anew.
You chain your hearts in vain,
And feel the pain of what you commit
Don't you ascertain these are mistakes
you must grant credit?

तेरे बिन मैं तो क्या, संपूर्ण संसार अधूरा है,
बिन तेरे, माँ, हम तो बस एक खिलौना हैं।

गाँव की माटी से आती है खुशबू रोज चंदन की
यहाँ नित भोर तुलसी पर उषा कुंकुम चढ़ाती है। कुहक उठती है कोयलिया यहाँ मधुमास आने पर
नहा के ओस की बूंदों में चिड़िया चहचहाती है।
हवा में गंध बिखराती कली हर मुस्कराती है
पपीहा प्रेम-धुन में पी कहाँ की रट लगाती है।
यहाँ पनिहारिनें पनघट पे नेहा गीत गाती हैं
यहाँ पर बाँस के वन में हवा सीटी बजाती है।
यहाँ की मिट्टी में फसलें सदा ही लहलहाती हैं
यहाँ के कीच में खेलकर कमलिनी मुस्कराती है।
गगन में साँझ सिंदूरी यहाँ दीपक जलाती है
नयन में चाँदनी रजनी यहाँ सपने सजाती है।

गाँव गोकुल -सा है मेरा यहाँ के पूज्य हैं गोधन
यहाँ एहसास की कलियाँ मेरा मन गुदगुदाती हैं।

अनकही चाहतें

मैंने भी एक ज़िंदगी जी है, जिसमें मैंने सब कुछ सोच रखा था
एक ऐसी खूबसूरती, जिसके बारे में सिखाया गया था,
कुछ ऐसा सोचा जो सोने सा दमकता हो,
हीरे-जवाहरात से सजा हुआ हो।
लेकिन जैसे-जैसे बड़ी होती गई,
ज़िंदगी बदलती गई
अब मैंने एक ऐसी दुनिया सोची है,
जो आसान हो,

सुकून भरी और प्यारी हो।
पर फिर मैंने सोचा
क्या इससे दिल भर जाएगा?
अब जब मेरी साँसें थमने को हैं,
सोचती हूँ, मेरी चाहतें और कितनी बड़ी हो सकती थीं?
काश, एक और ज़िंदगी जी होती,
तो समझ पाती कि चाहतें क्या होती हैं, और कितनी अनंत होती हैं।

साक्षरता

साक्षरता केवल अक्षरों और शब्दों को पहचानने की क्षमता नहीं है, बल्कि यह एक उजले भविष्य की ओर बढ़ने का मार्ग है। हिंदी भाषा
का ज्ञान हमें न केवल संवाद करने की शक्ति देता है, बल्कि सोचने, समझने और नए अवसरों को अपनाने की योग्यता भी प्रदान करता है।
विद्या का प्रकाश अज्ञान के अंधकार को मिटाता है और हमें स्वावलंबी
बनाता है। इसलिए, हमें सतत सीखते रहना चाहिए, क्योंकि ज्ञान ही
वह संपत्ति है जो कभी नष्ट नहीं होती।

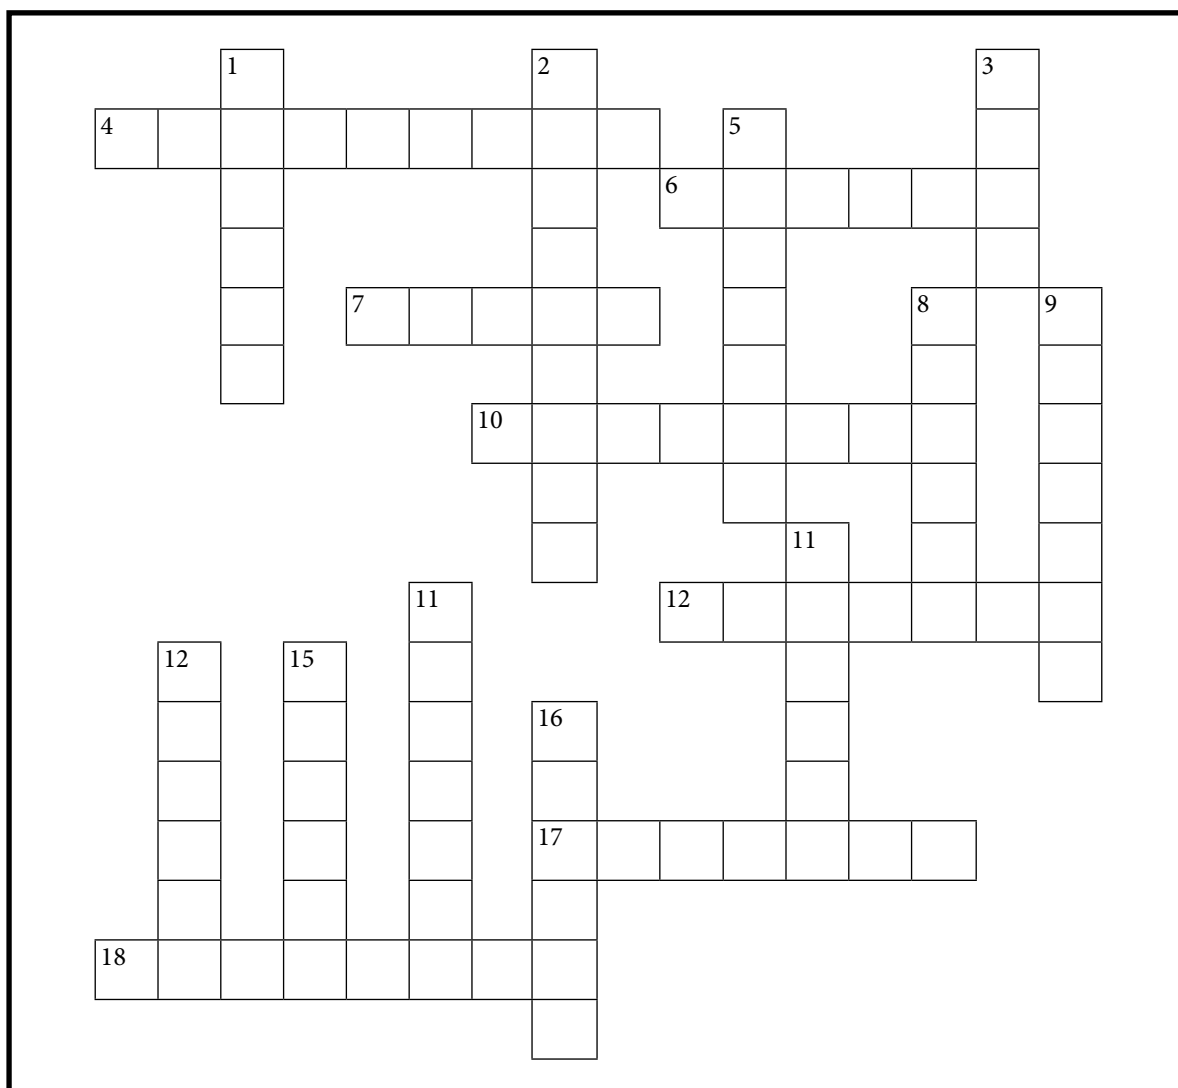

आइए, हम यह संकल्प लें कि स्वयं सीखेंगे और दूसरों को भी साक्षर
बनाएंगे, जिससे हमारा समाज शिक्षित, समर्थ और उन्नति की ओर
अग्रसर हो सके।

“विद्या ही सफलता की कुंजी है, इसे कभी खोने मत दो!”
धन्यवाद!
